BIG FLIGHT OF A PEACOCK. His More Remarkable Capture Led

to a Case in Court. est Busch, a saloon-keeper, of 229 Hopkins street, was before Justice Goetting in the Lee Avenue Court, Williamsburg, to-day on a charge of keeping a peacock belonging to Butcher Ernest Greenberg, at 700 Broadway.

In court, Greenberg told the Justice that he had the bird in his show-window as an advertisement. Yesterday afternoon a drunken man shoved his fist through the window, breaking the giass and so frightening the bird that it flew away.

According to Greenberg, it sailed over the tenement-houses, and lodged on the spire of the Hopkins Street Presbyterian Church.

Finally the bird flew down, and while passing the second story of 229 Hopkins street Busch, he said, reached out and grabbed it. burg, to-day on a charge of keeping a Greenberg went around to the saloon-keeper and demanded his peacock. Busch refused to deliver up the bird unless he was given $2 for his trouble in catching it. Justice Goetting wanted time to ponder over the remarkable story and reserved his decision.

ACCUSED BY HIS WIFE.

Mrs. Cronin Says Her Husband and His Cousin Abused Her.

Michael J. Cronin, aged twenty-eight, a stenographer for Lawyer Englehardt, of 291 Broadway, and his cousin, Teddy Cronin, were each sent to jail for five days by Justice Walsh, in Brooklyn, to-day, on charges of intoxication, and wer held for examination on May 17 on day, on charges of intoxication, and wer held for examination on May 17 on charges of assault.

Michael Cronin was married on Nov. 23. 1893, to a daughter of Contractor John Walsh. They lived at 23 Tiffany place, an apartment-house, in which Mrs. Cronin's parents live. She charges her husband with having neglected her, and last night, she asserts, he and his cousin Teddy went home drunk, and the latter hit her on the nose, and her husband knocked her down. Her screams aroused her parents, and the two men were arrested.

HARRY HUCKANS'S DEATH.

Not a Beating, Caused It.

Dr. Frank Freel, Coroner Creamer's assistant announced this morning that he had made an autopsy on the body of Harry Huckans, eight years old. The boy died suddenly at the Brooklyn Or-phan Asylum on Wednesday last, and it was alleged by his mother that his death was due to a terrible beating re-ceived the night before he died. Dr. Freel declares that the boy died from congestion of the lungs and kid-meys.

re congestion of the lungs and kidneys.

narrated in yesterday's "Evening World," Mrs. Huckans told Deputy Coroner Kelly that she had seen her son's body an hour after he died and had noticed discolorations on the limbs. She heard that he had been whipped, and she asserted her belief that a brutal beating had caused his death.

The asylum officials admitted that the boy had been whipped, but declared that he had only received a few strokes on the hand administered with a rattan.

The boy's brother, who is also an inmate of the institution, denied the story told by his mother to the effect that Harry had been jerked out of bed and dragged to the bathroom and whipped.

A day or two after my father's death I saw my brothers Paul and Worthington.

Paul said: "I think you are left off the will. I would not feel badly about it if I were you. So long as you make no trouble about it you will be taken care of. It is no disgrace to be left off, as in some of the other wills father made other children were not mentioned. We will make everything all right for you." "Worthington said the next day that I had been left off the will. He said all the children feit the same way, that if I did not make any trouble I would get my share. He said also that the attitude of my father had changed towards me before he died."

"I went to visit my sister, Mrs. Barr, at Babylon, for a week after father died. She told me that she as well as the other children, feit that I should have my share of the property.

"My sister, Mrs. Skeel, told me the same thing at another time. My brothers, however, said that nothing definite could be done until my sister, Mrs. Richard May Smith, wife of Prof. Smith. of Columbia College, returned from Europs.

On the assurances of my brothers and sisters that I should get my share of the estate, I signed the waiver for the probate of the bill.

"Subsequently I made a loan of $2,600 from the estate, and it was agreed that the money should be paid back when I received my share.
